Lemon Grove Art Association disbands due to low membership

The Lemon Grove Art Association is no more.

According to Tex Middleton, last president of the group of local artists which formed about 13 years ago, declining membership caused members to vote at the March meeting to disband.

At one time, the club boasted 22 members and often held shows of members' artwork at local shopping centers.

"We were down to eight members," he said, explaining that without a larger membership, the group could not fund such things as guest-artist demonstrations.

"It costs about $100 to have demonstrators come out, and we couldn't pay them without more members," he said, noting that despite efforts, the club was unable to recruit young members.

In fact, they couldn't even give scholarships away, according to Middleton.

"The last two years, we could-get any kids to compete for the $150 scholarships we had been giving to students from Mt. Miguel and Helix high schools," he said.

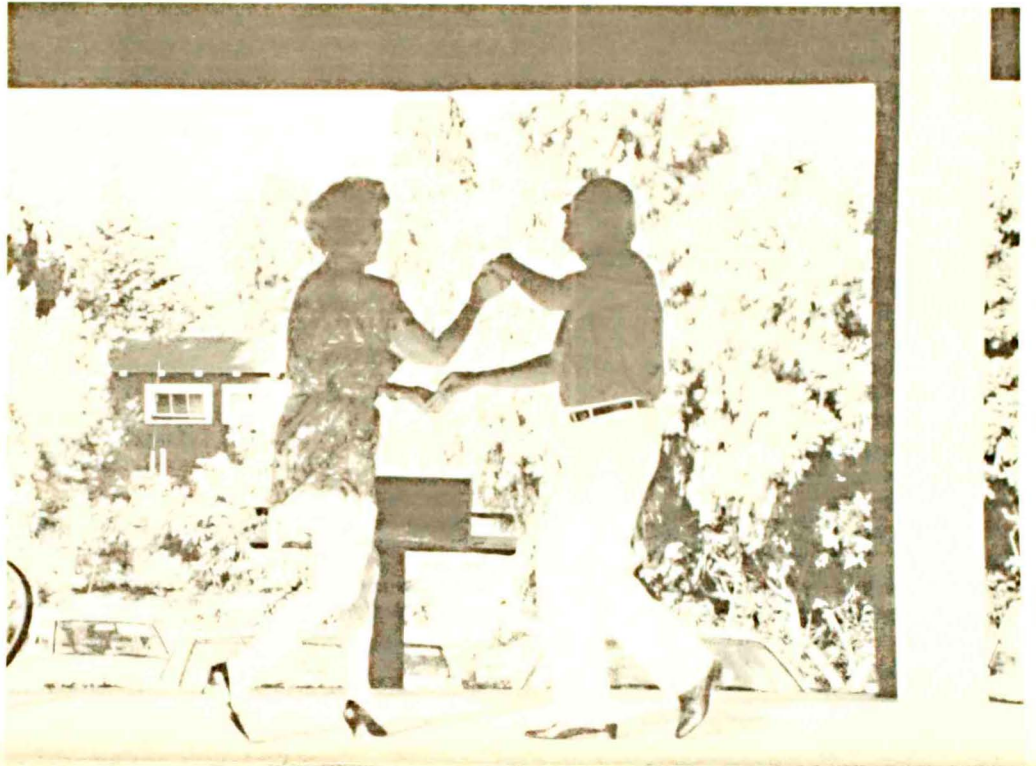

Middleton, 80, joined the art association about eight years ago, after wandering into a showing held in a neighbor's backyard.

That neighbor, Patricia Holland, a charter member of the association, is the one Middleton credits with keeping the group going when it once before suffered a decline in membership.

"Yeah, we did try to keep it going," said Van Holland, whose wife paints mostly watercolors, and belongs to the San Diego Watercolor Association and the Disabled Artists Association.

He noted that with her other groups, she will have other outlets for her talents. Next month, she will be the featured artist in the Disabled Artists showing at the Foothills gallery in La Mesa.

Concert in the Park brings out the crowds

The Cat-illacs once again drew a near-capacity, appreciative crowd to Berry Street Park for the Concert in the Park. Many snacked or ate dinner while enjoying the "oldies;" this couple took advantage of the nice weather and the dancing space in the park gazebo.

Council briefing on budget set

A City Council workshop on the budget for fiscal year 1993-94 will be held in conjunction with the council's afternoon briefing scheduled for July 27 at 4 p.m.

This will be the initial presentation of the budget to the council by city staff.

Adoption of the budget will occur at a future council meeting.

These end-of-the-month council briefings are held at the Community Center on School Lane. The public is invited to attend.

Baskin-Robbins franchisee closes doors in Lemon Grove

Last Friday, the Baskin-Robbins on Broadway failed to open for business.

A sign on the door apologizes to customers for any inconvenience.

"We are working very hard to reopen in the next several weeks ... we look forward to serving your needs very soon," the sign reads, listing a number of the regional corporate office to call with questions.

Regional corporate representative Paul Hunt stated that though he cannot elaborate on the situation at this time, he hopes the store will be open soon.

"We don't intend for the closing to be permanent," he said, confirming that two El Cajon stores, also owned by Glen Hutchinson, are presently closed.

Hutchinson, who has owned the Lemon Grove store since 1989, could not be reached for comment.

He is the second owner of the Lemon Grove franchise which opened on Broadway in 1977 under the ownership of Steve and Erica Aldrich.

Hackett leaving Lemon Grove School District

by Marv Rosen

Upon recommendation by Superintendent Jim Waters, the Santee School Board appointed Carolyn J. Hackett as the new assistant superintendent for business services, at their July 6 meeting. The position will be effective Aug. 9.

Hackett is currently the Assistant Superintendent, Business and Operations at the Lemon Grove School District, having held this position since 1987. Previously, she served as the Business Manager for the Alpine Union School District from 1978-1987.

Waters had noted, prior to the announcement of her appointment, that he has been quite pleased with the level of those who had applied for the position; that it made the job of choosing one of the candidates much harder, but a pleasant dilemma.

Hackett said that it was a good feeling being chosen over other qualified candidates and that she was quite pleased and really excited about the prospect of being in Santee.

"I had not met Jim Waters prior to the interview, but he had said he wanted someone with whom he could work. I am looking forward to the challenges of being in the Santee district," she said, "and to working with the great staff, who are really nice people."

She added that she considered the position as a promotional opportunity since Santee is about double the size of the Lemon Grove District, with 8,200 students versus 4,200.

She is looking forward to working with the facilities in the growing district. While with the Alpine District, she worked in the construction process for two new schools, she noted.

According to the staff report, statewide recruitment produced several qualified candidates to fill the vacant position with six semifinalists and three finalists interviewed.

After contacting various professional references and supervisors, the superintendent made his recommendation that Hackett be appointed to the position.

Carolyn J. Hackett

She has a masters degree from San Diego State University (1987) with a specialization in school business administration. She also earned a bachelor's degree in business administration at Oklahoma Panhandle State University.

She said that she had lived in San Diego in 1968-70, then returned to live here in 1975. Since she lives in Alpine, she will not have the difficulty of moving. She has two sons, David, a Lt. j.g. in the Navy, and Douglas, a student at San Diego State.

According to Lemon Grove School District Superintendent Joe Farley, a statewide search is now underway to find a new assistant superintendent. He expects that Hackett's replacement will be named in early September.

The empty Baskin-Robbins store is awaiting new life.

Shootout at the Bar-D Ranch

by Frank Andrews

While my wife, Willie, and I were packing for our journey up to Durango, Colorado, for her family reunion, she said, "Be sure and pack your new camera as you have been chosen the "Official Family Reunion Photographer."

I was a "Lone Stranger" when I married into my wife's big tribe of Oklahoma-Irish Indians. I appreciated and loved all of my in-laws, and never did find an outlaw in the bunch.

"It's been a long time since the whole family has been together, so we need plenty of good photographs," was my wife's very direct request.

All the family arrived at my brother-in-law's place, safe and sound at pretty close intervals, even though we had all come from different parts of the country.

My brother-in-law had a small "spread" in the La Plata River Valley where we spent the first day just gabbing and resting. With my mother-in-law, who was in her 90s, her seven kids and their spouses, it required using the wide-angle lens of my new Yashica 35mm camera for all close-up pictures.

I took a few impromptu shots around the little "spread," but saved the "creme de la creme" for the big Saturday night party at the Bar-D Ranch.

The beautiful Bar-D Ranch is a neat dude ranch located just a little north of Durango on the road to Silverton. The ranch was owned by the famous Dalton Boys of past cowboy history and is still run by their kin. The ranch was built on the side of a mountain, nestled in a stand of giant pines.

Before my gang started browsing this most interesting place, waiting for the delicious chuckwagon barbecue and the country-western music that followed, I shot pictures. Using the props of the ranch and my subjects in some colorful Western poses, I was able to shoot scenes that would make Cecil B. DeMille roll over.

When I laid down my trusty, smoking-35 to reload, after presumably taking the full roll of 24 pictures, I found to my greatest embarrassment that the camera was empty of film! No film, no pictures.

Boy! Oh Boy! If I would of had a Japanese samurai sword at the time, I would surely have fallen on it.

"How could this expensive piece of high-tech, precision equipment allow me to do such a dastardly thing?"

With all the fortitude I had left in me, I had to announce to the entire gathering, "Folks we will have to shoot all over again, as I forgot to load my camera."

I now had an irate group on my hands. I feared that they may turn on me any minute. The once happy smiles on their faces were now frowns.

The good light of day was passing fast, so I had to rush each shot to have any pictures at all for the archives of "Ye Old Round-up." Now instead of the customary "cheese," I thought I detected a faint "chump" from the posers.

Not one of my beloved and appreciated in-laws would speak to me until after they had a belly full of delicious barbecue and a snoot full of good old country-western music.

I was later forgiven by the tribe, but I had lost my job as the "Official Family Reunion Photographer."

The moral of this true story is "Don't shoot until you're loaded!"

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Assemblyman Connolly's, and Councilman Burns', recent letters justify cynicism of politicians by being long on shallow accusations designed to intimidate critics, and short on facts. Connolly claims that he "wanted to make deeper cuts in spending on state administrative departments" but was blocked by Republicans in the Legislature.

Assembly voting records actually show Connolly, and Willie Brown, voted to kill 6 amendments to the budget bill, AB 2386, that would have frozen or reduced various state department budgets for unrealized savings of $94 million. Connolly, and Willie Brown, voted to kill 3 amendments to AB 173, an anemic waste cutting bill, that would have capped legislative staff and special district salaries. These votes are an insult to County employees who have had wage cuts, and to employees of various municipalities who have had wages frozen.

Connolly's claim to "not support any proposal to raise taxes" evidently does not include more than 14 bills that raised fees on various activities. It must not also include the budget which is predicated upon continuation of the 1/2 cent sales tax. Taking $2.6 billion from local governments, then passing Proposition 13 busting bills such as AB 786, AB 1904, and AB 1905 to allow local governments and special districts to raise taxes to pay for now unfunded basic services, looks like a poorly disguised state tax hike to me.

Connolly is curiously silent about his voting against, or abstaining, on 13 separate bill amendments to deny education benefits to persons violating federal law by being in the United States illegally.

He voted three times against denying worker's compensation benefits to illegal aliens. Connolly has voted to pass one immigration related bill but unfortunately AB 2114 allows illegal aliens to be classified as residents of California for the purpose of paying lower in-state college tuition fees. By what logic does Connolly fully fund $3.1 billion in benefits to illegal aliens while grabbing $2.6 billion in funding from local governments that provide police and fire protection services?

The gridlock of irresponsible taxing and spending continues in Sacramento. Rather than rejecting the status quo, Connolly's budget votes have perpetuated it.

B-Words Personal comments of Councilman Bob Burns

High-tech trains

One of the pleasures of serving on the Metropolitan Transit Development Board (MTDB) is the opportunity to frequently be informed on new technology.

The recent American Public Transit Association's (APTA) meeting in Miami was an excellent example, and I was fortunate to be chosen to ride in a demonstration model of ABB Traction's train of the future, the American X2000. This train recently began a nationwide tour in the Northeast to demonstrate the "Train of the Future," and the second showing coincided with the Light Rail Conference in Miami.

The train can travel up to 150 miles per hour. It only got up to about 80 on the demonstration run between Miami Beach and Fort Lauderdale because of the crossings and other physical restraints. However, the beauty of these vehicles is that they can attain very high speeds on existing roadbeds for the most part. One of the problems of high speed rail is that the train tracks and the underlying support, either earthen or structural, must be able to handle the trains at high speeds. Thus it is almost mandatory that this underlayment be constructed specifically for the trains. The size and location of the rails must fit the traction wheels and axles, of course. Also, the roadbed is usually banked to accommodate the centrifugal force that comes into play on curves. The degree of curve must be such that the train will not jump the track at some point of high speed. So when high speeds are wished, the condition of an existing roadbed is a real barrier.

The America X2000 has two innovative factors that make it adaptable to just about any existing system. Since the width and gauge of the rails on most present systems, are right, the above obstructions are removed by two changes in the standard train vehicles. The wheels are movable laterally instead of being rigid. They move to accommodate with a curving track similar to the front wheels on a car. This solves the "jump the track" problem in that the wheel base can follow almost any curve.

The second thing is that the entire car portion tilts to compensate for the centrifugal force of going around a curve and being thrust to one side or the other. When the compensation was made 100 percent it was found that the passengers found it to be weirdly unnatural, so ABB changed it to 90 percent. This again reduces the danger of going around curves at high speeds as well as increasing passenger comfort.

The interior is plush and very comfortable. The speeds are unnoticeable and it is truly a "train of the future." The plan is to transport this model to many parts of the country to demonstrate it on various existing roadbeds. We hope that possibly it can take a run on our trolley's East line. We have some real curves to test it. It may well not be proper to be inserted into the San Diego Trolley system, in that it will be more for a commuter rails corridor. How about getting from San Diego to L.A. in 50 minutes? That would be faster than it takes one to go by air.

If you have any questions or suggestions for Dr. Burns, send them to P.O. Box BB, Lemon Grove, CA 91946

Association for Retarded Citizens needs volunteers for camp sessions

Counselors are desperately needed for Camp-A-Lot, a residential summer camp program operated by the Association for Retarded Citizens, San Diego (ARC-SD).

The camp provides children and adults who have developmental disabilities with the opportunity to participate in regular summer camp activities such as hiking, swimming, arts and crafts. Ordinarily some 100 campers, from ages 7 to 85, attend each session.

"Our ratio of counselors to campers is much higher than you would find in a regular camp situation," said Lin Taylor, camp director.

"We're about 30 counselors short - 20 women and 10 men," she said. "If the situation doesn't improve, we may have to consider turning away campers, which would be a shame. It's a wonderful opportunity for them to learn about nature."

Counselors are needed for sessions running July 9-15, July 19-28, Aug. 2-8, and a children-only session Aug. 11-16.

Volunteer counselors must be 18 or older and make a commitment to complete at least one camp session. No experience is necessary and orientation will be provided. Counselors receive room, board and transportation to and from the camp, Taylor said. Interested volunteers can contact Taylor at 574-7575.

Local resident in 'Oklahoma!'

Horn is a veteran of past CCT shows, appearing last summer as Mrs. Paroo in "The Music Man." Other credits include the Wicked Witch of the West in "The Wizard of Oz," Frau Schmidt in "The Sound of Music" and "Singin' in the Rain."

In spite of her busy work schedule as a nurse with Grossmont Home Health and Hospice, Horn also finds time to participate on her church's worship team and as a Girl Scout trainer.

A theater major in school,

Horn says "theater is my therapy" and she has stayed close to the stage as an actor (in community theater in Amarillo, Texas, with San Diego Children's Theatre, church drama productions and Bellehurst Productions), and as a director for CYT (Christian Youth Theater).

Performance dates are July 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30, and 31 and August 1, 5, 6, and 7. Free parking available at Vivera and Mt. Helix drive.

Tickets for all CCT's 1993 season are available from TicketMaster or by calling 588-0206.

Adult ticket prices range from $12 to $18, discounts are available for seniors or groups over 15, and children are admitted at half price.

Sundowner News

Nicholas Cappiello of the Top Hat Catering launched the summer season with a splendid street scene for our June Sundowner.

In front of his business on Broadway he and his topnotch crew had arranged colorful tables with umbrellas, one table was piled high with fresh fruits and crisp veggies.

A delicious tureen of herb-veggie dip with assorted crackers was definitely a hit! We hope, if you attended, you didn't miss the mini-Reuben sandwiches or the potato pancakes topped with sour cream or applesauce.

This Sundowner was also the anniversary of Top Hat, they are celebrating 10 years in business. We wish you many more years of success!

The Sundowner had a large turn out of Chamber members, some new faces and many of Nick's friends.

Colleen Ruiz's son, Warren, drew our lucky winner from the fishbowl. Congratulations to Victor Hall, a sound system consultant.

Lovely weather added to the pleasure of the evening and we felt everyone attending had a enjoyable time.

Plan to join us for our next Sundowner at the Community Center Wednesday July 28. Hosted by EDCO Disposal Company and catered by Top Hat Catering.

June Luncheon

The Boll Weevil is famous for their delicious hamburgers and we are sure all the members attending our June luncheon will agree.

We had a group of twenty attending, among them was longstanding member, Wally Dorman and our hard-working Councilman, Bob Burns.

Boyd Stewart introduced our speaker, Bob Hillman of Pathfinders. We heard several case histories of alcohol and drug abuse. Mr. Hillman told us of his experience as a recovering alcoholic and explained the Pathfinders program and how it got started. Questions and answers followed. It was an absorbing program. Mr. Hillman is an excellent speaker on this subject. He can be contacted at 619-756-5260.

Boyd thanked all members for attending, also Mr. Hillman.

ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
PETER MAYNARD OLHEISER
CASE NO. 160219

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of: PETER MAYNARD OLHEISER

A PETITION has been filed by JOANNE S. MILLOT aka JOANNE KAY OLHEISER in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO. THE PETITION requests that JOANNE S. MILLOT aka JOANNE KAY OLHEISER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on AUG 02, 1993 at 1:45 p.m. in Dept. F-5, located at: 1501-55 Sixth Ave., San Diego, CA 92101-1946

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED PARTIES OF THE TERMINATION OF THE RECEIVERSHIP OF
UNITED STATES NATIONAL BANK
SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC"), as Receiver of United States National Bank, San Diego, California, will terminate the Receivership on August 26, 1993.

On the 18th day of October, 1973, the Comptroller of the Currency (hereinafter "Comptroller"), found United States National Bank (hereinafter "Bank") to be solvent and it was closed by the Comptroller pursuant to its authority under 12 U.S.C. § 191. Subsequently, the Comptroller tendered appointment as Receiver of the Bank to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") pursuant to 12 U.S.C. §§ 191 and 1821(c). The FDIC accepted said appointment and undertook the duties of Receiver of the Bank pursuant to 12 U.S.C. § 1821(e). Title in and possession of all the assets, property, and business of the Bank passed to the FDIC.

Pursuant to an order of the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, on the same date, the FDIC as Receiver of the Bank (hereinafter "Receiver"), was authorized to enter into a Purchase and Assumption Agreement with Crocker National Bank whereby the latter acquired certain assets and liabilities of the failed Bank. Simultaneously, with the Court's approval, the Receiver entered into a loan agreement with the FDIC, in its Corporate capacity (hereinafter "Corporation"), whereby the Receiver obtained the required funds to implement the Purchase and Assumption Agreement and to administer the Receivership by borrowing from the Corporation and securing the loan with liens on all of the remaining assets of the Bank in favor of the Corporation pursuant to a Loan and Security Agreement dated October 19, 1973.

Both the Purchase and Assumption Agreement and the Loan and Security Agreement were approved by the United States District Court for the Southern District of California pursuant to 12 U.S.C. §§ 191 and 192.

Pursuant to Section 1.6 of the Loan and Security Agreement, the loan made by the Corporation to the Receiver has priority over the unsecured indebtedness, capital notes and debentures of the Bank outstanding at the Bank closing. Based on the final Balance Sheet, dated July 31, 1992, a copy of which can be obtained by contacting John P. Matli at the address listed below, the amount realized from the liquidation of the Bank was not sufficient to repay the amount loaned to the Receiver by the Corporation. There are no assets remaining for liquidation. Therefore, no amounts are, or will be, available for the Receiver to distribute to shareholders of the Bank.

Based upon the foregoing, continuing the Receivership serves no useful purpose, and it is in the best interests of the public that the Receivership be terminated. The FDIC is authorized to terminate this Receivership administratively pursuant to 12 U.S.C. § 1821(c) (2) and (d) (13) (D) 1989.

Wherefore, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, as Receiver of said Bank, proposes by this notice that on August 26, 1993, the Receivership shall be terminated. The acts and accounting of the FDIC as receiver of the Bank and in its corporate capacity shall be confirmed. The FDIC shall have the sole discretion to dispose of the records of the failed Bank. All further claims against the Receivership shall be forever barred. The FDIC, in its receivership and corporate capacities, shall be fully released and discharged from any further duty, obligation or liability in connection with the liquidation of said Bank, and any claim, suit or action against the FDIC in its corporate capacity or in its capacity as receiver or liquidator of said Bank or against its directors, officers, employees, representatives and agents shall be forever barred.

If any person has any claim or wishes to oppose the termination of the Receivership of United States National Bank, such objection must be served by certified mail on or before the 5th day of August, 1993, on the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, ATTN: John P. Matli, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 2870 Zanker Rd., San Jose, CA 95134. Written objections must clearly specify the grounds upon which they are based, including citation of supporting legal authority, if any, or they will be forever barred.

Another state budget perspective

by Jan Goldsmith, Assemblyman, 75th District

Monday Morning, 4 a.m.

It was 4 a.m., Monday June 21, and the doors leading to the chambers of the California State Assembly were locked. Guards stood at the entrance ensuring that no one entered or left without permission from Speaker Willie Brown.

Inside, the Assembly - which began its session at 7 p.m. the previous evening - still remained, waiting for one last "aye" vote necessary to pass the budget. The electronic vote board remained open so that legislators could change their votes.

The microphones were silent. What limited debate that was permitted on the $52 billion budget had long been cut off. Instead, what ensued was not intended for the general public.

It was political arm-twisting at its most extreme. One by one, Assembly members were brought to Speaker Brown for "a talk" and one by one, votes were changed. By 4 a.m., this had prompted 22 members of the Assembly (over one quarter of the body) to change their votes to "aye."

It took nearly another hour to get the final vote change. At 4:52 a.m., there remained 24 "no" votes, including mine.

The budget was the product of arm-twisting and politics, not sound fiscal policies. It takes $2.6 billion from local governments and raises taxes by $1.4 billion (if approved by voters). Yet the state persists in spending more money than it has.

In fact, California has now officially followed the federal method of deficit financing. This budget "rolls over" $2.7 billion in deficits and carries another $2 billion of "off-budget" spending. And if our economy continues to sputter, the deficit will grow. We have created the "CalDebt."

Whether it is 4 a.m. or 4 p.m., I cannot vote for a budget that is not balanced.

The last-minute, marathon budget session underscored that fiscal policies took a back seat to politics. California's budget problems, however, require a higher quality of attention at an earlier stage in the process.

The Governor proposed his budget in January. But the first time we voted on the budget was 4 hours before the constitutional deadline for legislative approval in June!

In February, the state legislative analyst proposed a sweeping restructuring of government as part of the budget which would have reduced overlap and improved the fiscal relationship between counties and the state. That was set aside and never heard.

In March, 24 freshmen legislators petitioned Speaker Brown for changes in the budget process to include freshmen legislators and address fiscal policy issues earlier. The petition was ignored.

Beginning in April, Republican legislators submitted a series of proposals that would have cut $9 billion in state spending. Although some of these proposals could have been adopted to avoid deficit spending and the shift of funds from local government, they were tabled and never heard.

California's fiscal problems will be solved only by facing that we have more government and costly policy mandates than we can afford. It not only affects our budget items, but it affects our revenues as we continue driving businesses and tax-paying jobs from our state through costly and excessive regulations.

If we honestly faced the underlying causes of our fiscal problems early in the process, perhaps we wouldn't need the a.m. arm-twisting to produce a budget. And perhaps - just perhaps - our budget could actually be balanced. California's fiscal problems will be solved only by facing that we have more government and costly policy mandates than we can afford.

It not only affects our budget items, but it affects our revenues as we continue driving businesses and tax-paying jobs from our state through costly and excessive regulations.
